AFL-CIO Turn to More Pay, Shorter Hours

By NORMAN WALKER

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (U) — AFL-CIO chiefs turned today from their corruption problems to bread-and-butter demands for higher wages and reduced working hours.

Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers' president, prepared to make the floor in his first major speech at the AFL-CIO convention in behalf of a resolution calling for a "round of sizable wage increases" and a shortened work week.

These demands jibe with Reuther's plan for bargaining with the auto industry next year and reflect the fear of AFL-CIO executives that unemployment, already reported at 3.2 million in November, by the government, may rise to six million by spring.

"The very fact of an economic slackening makes it doubly imperative that unions gain sizable wage increases to bolster consumer buying power and thereby provide a needed stimulating force for an upturn in the economy," said the AFL-CIO's policy resolution.

Ministers Plan a Religious Census Here

Mrs. Collins, 56, of Rosston, Dies in Hope Hospital

Mrs. Alma Collins, 56, a long-time resident of Rosston, Ark., died at 4:15 Tuesday afternoon in a local hospital. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include her husband, J. W. Collins of Rosston; six sons, George E. Travick, Midway, Tex.; Clarence Travick, Conway, Tex.; Floyd Lee Travick, Big Springs, Texas; William Andrew Collins, Rosston; James Wallace Collins, Rosston; three daughters, Mrs. Noran Gibson, Odessa, Texas; Little Mae Bonson, Odessa; Frances Delois Brown, Tulsa, Okla.; three brothers, George and Robert Cook of Alabama; Jim Cook of Shreveport; two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Walls of Alabama; Mrs. Betty Grimer of Fort Arthur, Texas.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 today at Old Union Church with interment in Old Union Cemetery under the direction of Smith Funeral Home of El Paso.

Mechanic Painfully Burned Trying to Thaw Out a Truck

Ernest Gibson, mechanic, was seriously burned about the face and neck this morning while trying to thaw a Hope Brick Works truck on Highway 29, south.

Although painful, his condition is not considered critical. He was taken to a local hospital for treatment.

Mr. Gibson was engaged in thawing out the truck's gas line. Gasoline ignited and the flame caught him in the face. Hope Fire Department sent a truck to the scene and confined damage to the cab of the brick work truck.

Junk 40-Hour Week, Sen. Johnson Urges

WASHINGTON (U) — A leading Democratic senator says the nation may have "to go on a full, wartime mobilization schedule" to pull ahead of Russia in satellites and missiles.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said last night: "If heads must be knocked together, let's do it. If more money is needed, let's spend it. If more resources are needed, let's use them. If more hours are needed, let's work them."

Johnson discussed missiles and satellites in speeches at Waxahatchie, Tex., and at Dallas.

At Middletown, Conn., Rep. Patterson (R-Conn.) called for a "superaccelerated crash program" in rocket and atomic weaponry, and specifically urged a speedup in work on a nuclear-powered airplane.

A new series of missile tests was held at Cape Canaveral, Fla. One of the devices fired was a modified Redstone rocket, an experimental model of the type the Army plans to use in its effort to put an artificial earth satellite in space.

Johnson also proposed junking the 40-hour work week, but he did not specifically detail what he had in mind.

That suggestion brought immediate criticism from some AFL-CIO leaders attending the federation's convention in Atlantic City.

Al C. Hayes, president of the Machinists Union, commented: "We'd better find work for the unemployed aircraft and guided missile workers laid off on account of defense cutbacks during the last five months."

Johnson heads a Senate subcommittee which is investigating the nation's status in the missile-satellite field. He said a lag in U.S. progress was dramatized last week when the nation's first effort to launch a test satellite failed. That attempt was made by the Navy's Project Vanguard at Cape Canaveral. The rocket exploded on the ground.

Proposal From Bulganin May Be Ignored

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (U) — President Eisenhower was expected today to brush aside a 3,000-word letter from Soviet Premier Bulganin. The Russians called the letter "very important" and American officials dismissed it as propaganda.

The message was reported to renew old Soviet proposals to end nuclear bomb tests and to hold a high-level East-West conference to outlaw war.

The 15-page document, handed the State Department yesterday, apparently contained no new proposals. Its timing was significant, though, since it came just as Eisenhower prepared to go to the North Atlantic Pact summit conference opening Monday at Paris.

Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin called the letter "very important" when he talked to reporters after delivering it. But American officials said it was designed to undercut the NATO meeting and to block any attempt to arm America's European allies with nuclear-tipped missiles.

The State Department withheld formal comment until the letter could be translated and dissected by experts.

It was learned, meanwhile, that these were its main proposals:

1. A halt after Jan. 1 to all nuclear bomb testing. The Western Allies already have rejected this, saying it fails to get at the core of the problem: a ban on A-bomb and H-bomb production with safeguards to prevent cheating. Besides, the Allies want to keep testing for a "clean" H-bomb and small tactical A-bombs.
2. An East-West "conference of leaders" to outlaw war. This, too, has been turned down. The Allies' argument is that showy summit conferences or foreign ministers meetings never get down to brass tacks.
3. A prohibition on producing or stockpiling nuclear weapons in Communist Poland and East and West Germany. This idea was first put forward by Poland at the United Nations last Oct. 2. Nothing came of it. Two weeks earlier Russia had threatened to arm its satellites with nuclear weapons if West Germany got them.
4. The usual Soviet pitch about normalizing world relations and increasing East-West trade. Here again the Allies take the position that such generalizations are worthless unless the Soviets are willing to deal with specifics.

Numbing Cold Blast Spreads Into South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Finger-numbing arctic air gripped the north central states and extended as far south as northern Texas today as the mid-continent shivered under the largest and most severe cold wave of the season.

Temperatures skidded to below zero levels from the eastern Dakotas across most of Minnesota and northern Wisconsin to the northern Great Lakes. Readings in the teens extended southward through Kansas, Missouri and most of Illinois.

The mercury shivered to an early morning low of 15 below zero at International Falls, Minn.

Strong northerly winds with gusts of 40 to 50 m.p.h. drove the frigid outbreak deeper to the south and intensified its grip on Northern areas. Gusts up to 70 m.p.h. howled across the Plains late yesterday, churning up great clouds of dust in some sections of the Southwest.

Snow flurries were widespread from the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley eastward into middle Atlantic sections and northern New England. The snow extended as far south as Memphis, Tenn.

Heaviest falls occurred near the southern and eastern shores of the Great Lakes with South Bend, Ind., measuring 4 inches during a six-hour period. A similar accumulation was measured at Pellston, Mich.

Ike's Decision Gives New Lift to NATO Meet

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (U) — President Eisenhower's decision to attend the NATO summit conference at Paris gave a new lift today to official hope for restoring Allied confidence in American leadership.

Secretary of State Dulles and other authorities are counting heavily on Eisenhower's personal presence to infuse a fresh sense of unity and cooperation into the North Atlantic Alliance.

Furthermore, only the President has the power of final decision on U. S. policy. His presence in Paris should mean American readiness to make on-the-spot decisions.

The meeting was called to find new ways to strengthen the alliance in the face of Soviet advances in military and scientific fields.

The Russians yesterday made a move which American officials interpreted as an attempt to sabotage the NATO meeting, opening next Monday. Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin handed the State Department a 15-page letter from Russian Premier Bulganin to Eisenhower. Similar messages apparently were going to other government heads inside and outside NATO.

United Action Needed, Says Sam Rayburn

EL DORADO, Ark. (U) — Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn yesterday said "united action on both sides of the aisle" was needed to catch and pass Russia in the scientific arms race.

A Texas Democrat, speaking at a luncheon in honor of Arkansas Rep. Oren Harris, said: "It is not enough to catch up with Russia — it is vitally necessary that we catch up and pass."

He said, "In my opinion, the civilization that you and I know and love stands in greater danger than ever before. This is no time for complacency."

"Whether we are Democrats, Republicans or what not, I want to warn you it is going to take united action on both sides of the aisle, on both ends of the Capitol and from 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue to protect, defend and perpetuate the institutions of the mightiest government that ever existed."

He said President Eisenhower should "crack some heads together in the Pentagon and say 'this is the program. Carry it out or get out.'"

Rayburn said America does not face "one great problem," but many problems.

He praised Harris as the type who "has courage to meet and grapple with these problems."

Harris succeeded Rayburn as chairman of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

Highways Get New Construction Boss

LITTLE ROCK (U) — Appointment of C. A. (Bill) Shumaker as construction engineer for the Arkansas Highway Department, effective Jan. 1, was announced today by Highway Director Herbert Eldridge.

Shumaker, now assistant chief engineer, will succeed E. E. Mashburn, 76, who is retiring after 28 years with the Highway Department.

J. T. Pendergrass, now an engineer in the Materials and Test Division, will become assistant chief engineer, Eldridge said.

Shumaker started working for the Highway Department in 1929 and has been there since except for several years in military service in World War II. Pendergrass has been with the department for 13 years, exclusive of time spent in military service.

Dismissal Threats Futile in New York

NEW YORK (U) — Commuters resorted to all sorts of devices today in an effort to beat the crush of millions struggling to get to Manhattan jobs amid the city's subway strike.

For most, it was the third day of the same old maddening frustration caused by a walkout of subway motormen which cut service to the underground lines one-half to two-thirds.

During the morning rush hour there were packed subway station platforms, sweating riders jammed into the last inch of space on every train and motormen at every station between those trying to get on and off.

Bus and commuter railroad lines, trying to take up the slack, were swamped again. Main thoroughfares leading into Manhattan had paralyzing traffic jams for the third day.

The toll in tardy and absent workers, business losses and the effect on schools were sharply felt.

Manhattan department store operators complained of Christmas shopping losses. "Santa Claus is dying," declared one gloomy executive.

Trade associations estimated that sales were 20 to 40 per cent below the same period last year, and put the overall drop in millions of dollars.

Suburban stores reported they were reaping a huge harvest on purchases from customers unable to get into the city.

Dr. Jacob Greenberg, deputy school superintendent, said the subway disruption was interrupting or affecting in some way the education of nearly a million children.

Schools were opening later and closing earlier each day.

The New York Transit Authority, an independent agency which runs the subways and many bus lines, reported that its work-or-fired ultimatum in striking motormen yesterday had brought 58 men back. The striking union claims 2,000 of the subway system's 3,200 motormen.

There was little apparent prospect of a quick settlement of the dispute, centering on union jurisdictional questions.

Haggard but ingenious travelers, wiser from experience traveling the previous two days, devised numerous schemes.

Explosion in Coal Mine at Ft. Smith Leaves Four Dead

FORT SMITH, Ark. (U) — A coal mine explosion which company officials said was caused by an accumulation of gas, killed four men and slightly injured two others early today.

The blast occurred at Peerless Coal Co.'s No. 3 mine in the Excelsior Field between Hackett and Greenwood, about 15 miles south of here.

W. H. Lewis, owner, and C. A. Melton, a bookkeeper, said the six miners were about a mile from the mouth of the slope mine which Lewis described as "the deepest underground mine in the state."

Lewis identified the dead as George Simmons of Greenwood, Ark., and L. D. Sewell, Gene Moore and Joe Martin of Paris, Ark. They were killed instantly.

The mine owner said Kendrick Richardson of Fort Smith suffered scratches but remained with the rescue party headed by State Mine Inspector Jack Berry of Paris. The sixth man, Frank Miller of Charleston, Ark., suffered minor injuries.

Lewis said a lack of air in the shaft hampered rescuers and that the bodies of Simmons and Sewell had not been recovered. The other two dead were removed about three hours after the blast.

Melton said gas apparently accumulated in the mine after a door to air conditioning equipment was left open. "This caused a short circuit of air," he said, "and allowed gas to accumulate."

The mine had not been in production for about a month. Lewis said a lack of orders had forced curtailment and the miners, working the graveyard shift, were engaged in development work — uncovering new veins of coal. They had been scheduled to end their shift about 7 a.m.

Most mining in Arkansas is accomplished by stripping coal from the surface of the ground.

Limit Kisses Coeds Told at Purdue

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (U) — Coeds at Purdue University's Shively Hall had orders today to limit good-night kisses on dates to one, keep it as short as possible and display "little or no emotion."

The "new college social order" announced by Shively's head resident, Miss Valerie Heavey, put a limit on kissing and recommended handshaking instead. Violations will bring summons before the Board of Standards for Coeds.

Deputy Shot, Fugitive Still at Large

SMITHVILLE, Okla. (U) — A deputy sheriff who had been assigned to watch a house near here for an Arkansas fugitive was critically wounded yesterday by a shotgun blast.

McCurdy County Sheriff Bud Murphy said Hartford Compton, 38, was shot at close range. He said nine pieces of buckshot struck Compton in the head and two other places pierced his chest. Attendants at a De Queen, Ark. hospital said his condition was critical.

Murphy said Compton had been stationed at the home of Bill Knighton in the Green Valley community near here to watch for 32-year-old David W. Roden, who escaped from the Hot Springs County Jail at Malvern, Ark., on Nov. 24.

Murphy and his party were told by Knighton that Roden had been to the Knighton home but had left. Murphy left Compton to watch the house and he and other officers started for another area where Roden reportedly held up a game warden.

The sheriff said that Bob Hopson, who had been at the Knighton home when the officers arrived, caught up with the departing officers and told them Compton had been shot. Murphy quoted Knighton as saying: "Roden came out of nearby woods and shot Compton."

Roadblocks were thrown up in the area and bloodhounds were brought in from Oklahoma State Prison at McAlester.

Growth of Roll Business Is Amazing

The amazing growth of the Brown 'N Serve roll business was unfolded before Hope Kiwanis Club Tuesday by Fred Mathenia, local manager of Meyer's Bakery.

The Hope and Blytheville plants, specializing in this business, are now transporting their products into 26 of the 48 states, and further operations are planned. This has been the progress since 1952 when the Meyers company first started production of the rolls.

The local plant, Mr. Mathenia pointed out, produces 110,000 packages of rolls per week, employs a total of 85 persons working on two shifts and has a local payroll in excess of $200,000 per year.

Mr. Mathenia said the Hope plant operates nine large transport trucks traveling as far north as Kansas and south into southern Louisiana. He said plans were underway to extend operations into Alabama and Florida.

If and when the local plant goes into maximum production, it would mean three shifts daily with total employment to 125 persons. In concluding his talk, he urged support by every civic minded person of the Hempstead County Industrial Foundation fund which has for its purpose to bring in new industry and to aid local industry.

AF Jet Sets New Flight Speed Record

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (U) — An Air Force jet flew an estimated 1,185 m.p.h. over a measured straight-away course, 53 m.p.h. better than Great Britain's world record.

But the flight yesterday did not qualify as a new record because of a failure in photographic timing equipment.

The Fiat Voodoo streaked across a 10.1-mile course east and west at 39,100 feet altitude.

Nonmilitary sources said Maj. Adrian E. Drew, 37, Austin, Tex., averaged an estimated 1,133 m.p.h. on the two passes. One run was reportedly over 1,190 m.p.h.

But an Air Force information officer said after hours of study of records of the flight "The flight was disqualified as a record because of lack of photographic proof. One of the photos loomed up through a light leak in the camera magazine."

Thus, no official time will be announced on yesterday's run.

He explained that a camera shooting up from the ground at the point where Maj. Drew completed a pass through the speed trap failed to show the tail of the plane high overhead because of the light leak.

"We'll run it again later this week, probably Thursday," he said.

But an Air Force information officer said after hours of study of records of the flight "The flight was disqualified as a record because of lack of photographic proof. One of the photos loomed up through a light leak in the camera magazine."

Thus, no official time will be announced on yesterday's run.

He explained that a camera shooting up from the ground at the point where Maj. Drew completed a pass through the speed trap failed to show the tail of the plane high overhead because of the light leak.

"We'll run it again later this week, probably Thursday," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Haynie and daughter of El Dorado were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Brozie Haynie.

ALC Cagers Tough for the Big Teams

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press

The way these fellows from that rugged bed of basketball called the Atlantic Coast Conference cuff the big guys around, it's a wonder North Carolina's winning streak has gone as far as it has.

It's enough to make a coach glad he's away from home grounds now and then, as Frank McGuire's North Carolina Tar Heels were in stretching their streak to 34 against George Washington, 85-59 in Washington, D.C.

Previously winless, Clemson, fired by Walt Gibbons' 21 points, whipped 63-59 a N.C. State team last night that had won three straight, was ranked 12th nationally and figured as one of the chief ACC challengers to top-ranked North Carolina.

Action was sparse elsewhere among the major schools, with Texas, Dartmouth, St. Bonaventure, The Citadel, Chicago Loyola, and California, turning in noteworthy victories.

Texas won its third straight 73-41 over McMurry, Dartmouth's win string went to three in a 75-50 decision over Vermont, and unbeaten St. Bonaventure whipped Lemoyne for the 13th straight time, 50-46.

The Citadel downed William & Mary, 35-23, the Bulldogs' fourth Southern Conference victory; and Chicago Loyola, down four points at halftime, rattled in 48 points after intermission to crush South Dakota State 84-58. California went to two overtimes to flight off St. Mary's (Calif.), 67-57.

Whelan of Illinois, the defending NCAA small college champ, won its 25th straight, 82-47 over Millikin.

Richmond whipped Washington and Lee 75-65, and brown scored a 62-58 decision over Rhode Island.

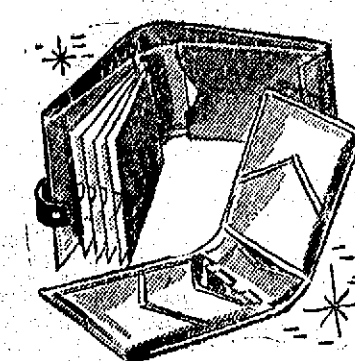

Abilene Christian, hitting on 50 percent of its shots, defeated Baylor of the Southwest Conference, 82-66 and Fordham won an 81-80 squeaker with Yale.

Oregon downed San Jose 72-67, Washington State routed Whitworth 77-45, Penn State outpossessioned Carnegie Tech 47-35, Villanova bounced Loyola of Baltimore 85-65, and Presbyterian whipped once-potent Furman, 68-78 in the other pairings.

Turkey Dinner Enjoyed By Members of Department 2 of First Baptist Church

A delicious turkey dinner was served to approximately 30 couples of Department 2 of the First Baptist Church Tuesday evening in the Fellowship Hall of the Church. The attractive tables were decorated with red candles and interspersed with holly. Seated at the head table were Dr. and Mrs. John McClanahan, Mrs. Gus Haynes and Henry Haynes.

Acting as master of ceremonies, E. L. Archer Jr. asked Henry Haynes to open the meeting with prayer. Following the meal, Dr. McClanahan read a most timely article, "The Meaning of Christmas." Andy Andrews led the group in the singing of several Christmas carols.

WSOS Monthly Meeting

The WSOS of the First Methodist Church held its regular monthly meeting in the Sanctuary of the Church Monday, Dec. 9 at 2 p.m. The meeting opened with the group singing several Christmas hymns. A very inspiring devotional was given by Mrs. Edwin Ward and Mrs. Fred Glanton.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The group voted to change the time of the meeting to 2:30 beginning in January. In circle count, Circle 2 won with 11 present.

Mrs. R. L. Broach presented the program on "Missions and Evangelism" assisted by Mesdames E. J. Whitman, Dick Watkins and George Newbern. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. John Arnold.

Christmas Luncheon for Hope Iris Garden Club

Hope Iris Garden Club had its annual one o'clock luncheon Tuesday in the private dining room of the Diamond Cafeteria. Hostesses were Mrs. R. V. Herndon Jr. and Mrs. A. A. Halbert.

The serving table using the Christmas motif was most attractive and decorated with holly. A three-course luncheon was served to the ten members with the invocation given by Mrs. C. M. Agee. During the business meeting Mrs. Coy Breeding who is vice president presided in the absence of Mrs. J. M. May, president. Mrs. Leahoy Spates gave the origin and cultivation of the Christmas Rose. And in a most charming manner, Mrs. R. V. Herndon Jr. told the story, "The Unexpected Guest."

In the corsage contest, Mrs. Leahoy Spates placed first. A gaily lighted Christmas tree was the focal point and Mrs. R. V. Herndon Jr., acting as Santa Claus distributed the gifts.

usual to get a quick headstart. Some succeeded—but many also found that a lot of others had the same idea and were thronging entrance ways much earlier.

NEW YORK (AP)—Threats of wholesale dismissals failed today to deter a rebellious group of subway motormen from continuing their strike.

As members of the Motormen's Benevolent Assn. carried the strike into its third day, they were bucking warnings from the Transit Authority that they would be dismissed if they did not return.

Backing the Transit Authority, Mayor Robert F. Wagner warned the strikers that they were causing great economic hardships to the city as well as jeopardizing their own incomes and security. He said he felt that few realized they are breaking the law. State law imposes dismissal or severe penalties on civil service workers who strike against government agencies.

Gov. Averell Harriman also urged the strikers to return to work.

The MBA, backed by six other craft unions, is seeking to break out from a systemwide labor contract with Michael J. Quill's Transport Workers Union.

The united front of craft groups claims a membership of more than 16,000 of the city's 31,817 highly rated transit employees. They include trolleydrivers, signalmen, conductors, maintenance workers and shop personnel.

With no sight of the snowballing strike in sight, Wagner obtained agreement from six Queens bus lines to supply extra service between that hard-hit borough and Manhattan.

In many parts of Manhattan the end of the work day touched off nerve-racking traffic jams.

The New York Central Railroad reported that the largest commuter train in its history, a Mount Vernon local, left Grand Central terminal with 1,700 persons on 12 coaches and made 12 stops in the Bronx.

Automobile pools helped ease the burden when the automobiles were able to thread their way through the city congested streets.

At Grand Central and at Pennsylvania Station, the depot for the Long Island Rail Road, the crowds were large but they were handled without difficulty.

Henry Weiss, LIRR passenger traffic manager, said about 70,000 persons entered and left Pennsylvania Station between 4 and 6 ling junking the 40-hour week and a possible full, wartime mobilization, to gain the lead in the satellite and missile field.

Speaking at Waxahatchie, Tex., Johnson said, "Before this emergency is over, it may be necessary to go on a full wartime mobilization schedule." Speaking further on Russia's lead in the satellite and missile field, he said the 40-hour week should be junked because it "will not produce the YCBM (intercontinental ballistic missile)."

He did not make clear what he meant by junking the 40-hour week. The senator did not say whether he thinks workers should receive time and a half pay, straight time or no additional pay for working more than 40 hours.

He followed up the luncheon speech at Waxahatchie with this appeal at a dinner here last night: "Let us do what ever it takes to preserve our country and our freedom."

Matthews Is Offered Job Under Broyles

Fayetteville, Ark. (AP)—

Frank Broyles, new University of Arkansas head coach, said today he had offered Wilson Matthews a position on the Razorback staff.

Broyles said the Little Rock Central High coach has a week to make up his mind on the offer.

Matthews reportedly has twice turned down a job at Arkansas in past years. But Broyles terms Matthews a "good friend," and observers agree Matthews will probably go this time.

At Little Rock, Matthews said: "Any announcement will have to come from Coach Broyles."

Broyles and the two assistants he brought with him from Missouri—Merrill Green and Jim McKenzie—were horse hunting in Fayetteville yesterday.

Broyles plans to meet the Fayetteville team officially for the first time today.

Luedee Will Try to Whip British Champ

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Free-swimming

Jerry Luedee, a tree surgeon when he's not boxing, will try to cut Yvon Durelle down tonight in a light heavyweight fight.

Durelle, the British Empire light heavy champion, is a 7-5 favorite, however, on the basis of a split decision over Luedee a year ago.

Durelle is aiming for a match with champion Archie Moore and will be out for an impressive decision.

Luedee, 24, figures he is on the way up and is determined not to let the Canadian fisherman throw a block in his path. He has been fighting professionally four years and has a 30-6-1 record, with 13 knockout victories.

The bout, scheduled for 10 rounds, will be televised nationally over the American Broadcasting Co. network at 9 p.m. (CST).

Durelle, 28, will probably come in at about 175 pounds. Luedee, from New Haven, Conn., will weigh about 172. Luedee will have the advantage of 2½ inches in height, an 1½ inches in reach.

Durelle has been one of the busiest men in the game, with 12 fights in the past year. He has a winning streak of eight going. He has won 23 fights by knockouts in chalking up a 45-8-2 record.

Sooner Cager Takes White Sox Bonus

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Don

Schwartz, University of Oklahoma basketball player, today announced he had signed a baseball contract with the Boston Red Sox for a bonus. The bonus was reported in excess of $50,000.

Schwartz said the Sooner cage round Monday and said he was considering the offers of five major league baseball clubs.

Boston scout R. B. (Woody) Rice, who signed the righthanded fire-baller, declined to reveal the exact amount of the bonus but said: "This bonus is bigger than any Oklahoma boy ever received before."

At Grand Central, the Central railroad put on 14 additional cars and set up eight extra ticket booths.

DOROTHY DIX

Two Babes Can't Make a Go Of It

Dear Dorothy Dix: When we were married two years ago I was 15. My husband 18. Life in those two years has been terrible. He won't buy groceries, give me a cent, pushes me around and won't pay a bit of attention to our year old baby. He won't even let me hold her while I give her a bottle and speaks her for the least little thing. Finally I had to threaten to leave him if he didn't stop hitting her. In the last few months he has improved a little. He's stopped hurting the baby and buys food—but still won't give me money to clothe either me or the baby, and refuses to let me have dental treatment which I badly need. He won't let me have any company, not even my family. I'm afraid of what will happen if we have any more children. My folks worry about me and urge me to come home while I'm young, and get some sort of education.

DORIS
Dear Doris: It's doubtful that you'll ever be successful in making a man of this perential adolescent. You were both at fault for marrying so young, and apparently your husband will never grow up to the responsibilities he required too early. Try to get him to a marriage counselor for a consultation that might save your home. If he refuses to make this effort, better accept your family's offer, get training in a living trade that will produce a living for yourself and child, but be careful that you never make the mistake of supporting your husband. When he can accept his responsibilities as a husband and father, go back to him—not before.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My girl friend is constantly making catt remarks about the boy I like.

Dear L. L.: Such has always been the way with jealous girl friends. If a girl doesn't have a beau, she very frequently resents the fact that her best friend does have one. Ignore the remarks. Rise above them. When she sees that they have no effect on you, she'll stop wasting her breath.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 17, a high school graduate, and have a job as waitress in my small home town—this is the best work I can get here. My brother, who lives in a city up north, has offered me a business course. I will go stay with his family. My problem is, this, can I get a part-time job there since I am not 18?

WORRIED
Dear Worried: You certainly can. If your family agrees to your brother's proposition, don't turn it down. With business training you can get wonderful jobs in today's market.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My friend says in thanking people for shower and wedding gifts it is correct to send engraved cards saying, "Thank you for the gift." I think special notes should be sent to every donor, signed with one's first name.

PUZZLED BRIDE
Dear Puzzled Bride: May I quote from the recognized authority on etiquette, Emily Post?

"The card of thanks is taboo, unless it is supplemented by at least a few handwritten words of appreciation. An engraved or printed 'Thank You' card, no matter how attractive its design or how meaningful its phraseology, cannot take the place of a personally written message of thanks."

And so your viewpoint is correct.

Dear Dorothy Dix: If anyone can set me straight, you can. I'm 15, but look older. Well, my mother came home early from work and caught my boy friend and me smoking and drinking beer in the living room. I never saw her so angry. My boy friend went out the back door and is still running. I think, I think she was high-handed. Since she smokes, I don't see why I can't.

SUSIE
Dear Susie: If you want adult privileges, are you willing to accept adult responsibilities? Would you like the job of going to work every day to support a family? Would you like to come home

'High Society' Coming Here on Sunday

Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly and Frank Sinatra, each an Academy Award winner, topping the year's outstanding cast. Cole Porter's first original score for a motion

That's the unbeatable entertainment offered in Sol. C. Siegel's production of "High Society." The big attraction, filmed in VistaVision and color and released by M-G-M, opens this Sunday at the Saenger theater.

Laid against a glittering back-

Dear Dorothy Dix: I guess I'm jealous of my mother-in-law. She's always been awfully nice to me but I won't let my children visit her without me. Besides, I try to keep my husband away as much as possible. Am I wrong?

Justice Chief Plans No New Rights Bill

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department does not plan to recommend additional civil rights legislation at the next session of Congress.

Atty. Gen. Rogers made that statement yesterday at a news conference, his first since he became a Cabinet member last month.

Rogers expressed the view that Congress and the country might well "let some little time elapse" to observe the workings of the Civil Rights Act adopted after considerable debate at the last session.

That law represented a somewhat watered-down version of the administration's proposal, with the result that some congressmen have announced intentions of seeking additional legislation next year.

The 44-year-old attorney general who was moved up from the deputy's job to succeed Herbert Brownell, voiced the belief that the civil rights question was fully debated last summer and that it would be "just as well not to have another debate of that kind at this session."

Rogers noted that the Civil Rights Commission created by the 1957 law is charged with examining the possibility of further legislation. He made it clear he intends to mark time on the commission's findings. The newly named commission has not yet started work.

Nothing that the new law is mainly designed to protect voting rights, Rogers said. "It is our duty to enforce the law as it is written—in voting cases, where it appears that citizens are being deprived of constitutional rights, we will bring the indicated action."

Concerning school integration difficulties at Little Rock, Ark., Rogers said, "We ought to give the Little Rock matter a chance to rest a while."

"The Little Rock people appear to be handling the matter pretty well recently. My contribution should be not to say anything which would aggravate matters."

ground of Newport's social world and its summer jazz festival, the story of "High Society" has a full quota of laughs in a plot revolving around a beautiful society girl who can't make up her mind about which husband she wants, the respectable happy-go-lucky sportsman and stuffy careerman who vie for her affections, and the swifty magazine reporter who appears on the scene in quest of scandal but ends up in arranging for the right romantic parties to get together.

Increase in Crude Oil Production

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Daily average production of crude oil and condensate increased 14,395 barrels to 6,645,987 barrels last week, the Oil and Gas Journal's survey showed today.

Louisiana's 15,700-barrel advance to 832,800 barrels was the biggest factor in the net gain. Oklahoma had the largest drop, down 13,300 barrels to 571,400.

The Journal estimated 1937 production at 2,448,451,610 barrels compared to 2,440,575,877 barrels a year ago. Decreases included Arkansas, 178 to 82,323.

No Plans to Take in More Negro Students

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—There are no plans to accept additional Negro students to integrated Central High School, which this school year begins Jan. 20, School Supt. Virgil T. Blossom said today.

Blossom made the statement when asked about reports that about 30 additional Negroes would be admitted next semester.

"There won't be any more admitted this school year," the superintendent said. "At least that's the way I see it right now."

"Hallelujah For a Button"

But for a button the world would never have thrilled to the majesty of "The Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah."

A small button was the shield that saved the life of youthful George Frederick Handel in a duel with a fellow musician. Struck by the point of his adversary's sword, it also spared the composer's glorious music for the ages.

Facts like this from the biography of Handel spice all World Book articles. Readers turn eagerly to WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA for interest as well as information.

There are more than 500 World Book articles entirely devoted to music, including more than 300 biographies of composers and musicians. Accuracy, detail, interest—that's why, year after year more people buy WORLD BOOK than any other Encyclopedia.

Makes His Own Selection of Best on TV

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Having voted in nearly everybody else's television poll as this year draws to a close, I now vote in my own poll. For that pretentious adjective "best," however, let's substitute a more modest "favorite."
Single show of the year—"The Green Pastures" on Hall of Fame (NBC-TV).
Regular live drama program—Studio One (CBS-TV).
Regular filmed drama program—You name it; I can't.
New musical variety show—The Patrice Munsel Show (ABC-TV).
Situation comedy—Is not to smile after all these years with Father Knows Best (NBC-TV).
Western—Still ride with Wyatt Earp (ABC-TV).
Quiz program—I pass.
Daily coverage of the news—Chet Huntley and David Brinkley (NBC-TV).
We'll news review—Outlook (NBC-TV).
Program of consistently intelligent interest, whatever its subject happens to be—See I Now (CBS-TV).
Interview program—Mike Wallace (ABC-TV).
Delving in the various arts—Omnibus (NBC-TV).
Explanation of the world of science—Cosmos (CBS-TV).
Random travel and amateur adventure—Bold Journey (ABC-TV).
Weekly examination of contemporary history—20th Century (CBS-TV).
Ambitious regular monthly entertainment effort, with even its failures noble ones—Show of the Month (CBS-TV).
Biweekly wandering around with cameras all over the place—Wide World (NBC-TV).
Fairly tale—"The Millionaire" (CBS-TV).
Superspecial blueprint—"Annie Get Your Gun" (NBC-TV).
Comedian (before he took a vacation)—Jackie Gleason.
Comedian (after he took a vacation)—Jack Paar.
Female entertainment personality—Polly Bergen.
Male entertainment personality—Perry Como.

Rumbling Note About Scenes in Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene—
"Offhand you wouldn't think that Walt Disney and Salvador Dali had much in common. But though of different schools, they're both artists and they're also good friends. Disney visited Dali at the latter's home on the Mediterranean while en route from France to Spain.
"Dali once worked at the Disney realistic sequence for one of the animated vanguard features, the company was making, after the war. But such films failed to sell, and the project was scrapped."
The Robert Wagner-Natalie Wood romance continues hot and heavy. He's a constant companion while she's working on "The Kings Go Forth," and people are predicting a holiday wedding.
Frank Sinatra on acting styles: "I never have been a fan of the sweatshirt school of acting. The only one of that group I admire is Eli Wallach, and he has gone far beyond it. When I heard he had tested for Magglio in 'From Here to Eternity,' I told my agents I didn't have a chance." Fortunately for Frank, Wallach couldn't do the film because of another commitment.
James Mason did some opening to drama students at UCLA, attacking commercialism in the American theater. Said he: "Playhouse 90 is one of the biggest productions on television. And who should come out in the middle but Bing Crosby selling gas. That is compromising one's art too far."
Lots of folks are wondering why Bing is doing the gas pitch. The reason is simple: Money.
Stan Laurel read reports that Jack Webb was planning to film the Laurel and Hardy biography with Jackie Gleason and Art Carney. It's a good story can be written. Stan has heard nothing from Webb, but he approves the cast.
His comment: "Gleason and Carney are the only comedy team who were like us—two comics. All the others are a comic and a straight man."

Union Urged to Remove Thugs

NEW YORK (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman has urged honest union members to "remove from power unscrupulous leaders and their underworld henchmen."
Speaking yesterday at a Mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral, he attacked labor racketeers as mobsters "whose aim is to force labor and management alike to become twin slaves of the underworld."
Honest labor men can remove labor racketeers, he said, by following the code of ethical practices of the AFL-CIO and "the rule of Jesus Christ." He said that to do so, he declared Monday, on his annual tour of American overseas military bases.

Chapter XXI

Lew's report was complete. It was a bloodhound, if I ever knew one, and the agency had connections, some of them not available to the police. He started with Hugo Howell.
Owner of a small machine shop employing 150 men. Made shell casings and machine tools under government contract. Also took private machining jobs — gears, pins, bearings, patterns, special rigs. Had once been checked by the Treasury Department for altered income tax evasion. Not proved, case dropped. Shortly afterward he'd sold out to a multi-plant combine. Apparently retired. Widower, one son, veteran, single, junior at Ohio State geology. Credit good up until three months ago. Not so good now. A couple of checks had bounced and he was currently overdrawn. Bank was tolerant because of fairly large trust fund set up by the late Mrs. Howell in son's name. Home in Detroit was now mortgaged to the hilt. Heavy drinker, gambled excessively. Violent temper. Not popular with employees, much union trouble, mostly grievances concerning unfair labor practices. One strike lasting three weeks. No police record, except one drunken driving charge.
"That's fine, Lew," I said. "Anything else?"
"Well," Lew said, "it seems that he contributed fairly generously to a number of charities. Even donated an iron lung to a children's polio hospital — in the name of his dead wife."
I was surprised. "Are you speaking of Hugo H. Howell?"
"Yes. Of course, charitable donations are deductible, so don't give him too much credit."
"You're too cynical, Lew. He can't get it all back in income tax. Who's next?"
"Lott. Ambrose C."
"Shoot."
Bachelor, 40, no known relatives. Worried for Hugo Howell as accountant and office manager. No police record. Lived alone in a small apartment on Woodward. Had worked since Howard sold the machine shop, but seemed to have money. Collected rare books. But collected not a dealer. He just collected and kept what he collected. Quiet habits. Occasionally had people in his apartment, but never any disturbances. A week ago had asked surer in apartment building to hold mail. Was taking a short vacation. Had not yet returned.
"And he won't return," I told Lew. "Lott is dead."
"Hmmm," Lew said. "Go on. Anything else on him?"
"That's all. And now we come to Sandra Osterman. I had a little trouble there. Jim, but I was lucky — a police detective is a pal of mine."
"Police record, then?"
"Not exactly. But her husband has."
"Husband?" I leaned forward, my fingers gripping the phone.
"Duke Calvin, a racketeer, small time, mostly nuisance protection. His small shopkeepers afraid to say a word to the cops. Broken windows, stuff like that. He's also a back-room pool hall gambler and a racketeer. Skipped town in May because he was wanted for questioning in connection with a bang-tail dope deal. Jockey confessed that Calvin gave the nag a hypo."
"What about Sandra?"
"Not too much there, Jim. Comes from a decent family, but all parents dead, but she has a brother who is a professor of geology at Michigan State. After Calvin ran out on her, she gave up her room and told her landlady that she was going to spend the summer with her brother in a cottage on Lake Erie — must be close to where you are now."
"It's close," I said. "When did she marry Calvin?"
"Three years ago. No children. I guess she supported Calvin part of the time — worked in beauty shops off and on."
"You're sure she's still married during the Christmas season. He said that if service men returned home today they could find that a segment of their blouse decorated had fallen under the ruthless domination of greedy, Godless gangsters and murderers."

Students Riot on Island of Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Students rioted and thousands of workers went on a 24-hour general strike as Greek-Cypriots marked the opening of U.N. debate on a solution for this British-held island's troubles.
Police lobbed tear gas shells and swung clubs to break up mobs in Paphos and Famagusta. Early reports said 12 persons were injured and seven students arrested.
The general strike was called by EOKA, the Greek-Cypriot rebel organization. It crippled Greek-Cypriot sectors in Nicosia and several other parts of the island. EOKA pamphlets called for closing all shops, except food stores, for two hours this morning.
Clubs of 47 states already have signed up for the contest. The final awards will be made at the federation convention in Detroit next June.
"The response has been fantastic," says Mrs. Cushman. "We are offering a prize for the best and most suitable costume for a clubwoman, made at home."
The General Federation of Women's Clubs has 11 million members throughout the world, and $45 million in the United States.
More and more young women are taking an active part in club work, says Mrs. Cushman, and they are interested in serious projects for the betterment of their communities, their states and their country.
In Paphos, on the west coast, about 500 youths attacked police headquarters with stones. Police ran them off with tear gas. In Famagusta, on the east coast, several hundred students chanting slogans for union with Greece, were dispersed by club-swinging police. British military police broke up small bands in Nicosia with little trouble.

against the Little Rock ordinance in federal court pending a ruling in the state courts, and Little Rock city officials agreed to discontinue arrests for fully violations. Asked whether North Little Rock and the NAACP might agree to a similar stipulation, Thompson said: "We are not going to stipulate even a comma or a period."

Inadequate Report, NLR Council Says

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The City Council last night decided that a report filed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People under the Bennett ordinance was inadequate and incomplete, and gave the organization eight days in which to complete it.
City Atty. Reed W. Thompson said the council instructed him in executive session to notify Mrs. Birdie Williams, president of the North Little Rock NAACP chapter, and two other NAACP officers, that the group had until midnight Dec. 18 to comply with the ordinance.
A report filed by Mrs. Williams last Thursday, Thompson said, did not contain a list of members or contributors as required.
The NAACP is challenging the ordinance, which has been adopted by North Little Rock, Little Rock and several other Arkansas cities, in federal court.
Last Week, W. A. Fair, North Little Rock NAACP vice president, was fined $25 and costs in Municipal Court for failing to comply with the measure.
Thompson said the Dec. 18 deadline applies to Mrs. Louella Wilson, chapter secretary, and Mrs. Mazatia Powell, who identified herself recently as "ex-treasurer," in addition to Mrs. Williams.
The City Council also decided to make a further investigation of the American Civil Liberties Union, which likewise was ordered to file data.
ACLU representative Patrick Murphy Malin of New York City filed a report Nov. 29 but refused to disclose the organization's full membership.
The Cherokee Club here was given three days in which to include in its report filed previously an affidavit as to whether it is affiliated with a parent organization.
The controversial ordinance was recommended by Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett as a move to reveal information about the NAACP, but it was applied to other organizations by both North Little Rock and Little Rock.
Attorneys have agreed to play fast and loose with the NAACP's suit.

Club Women Nowadays Are Streamlined

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The modern clubwoman ain't what she used to be.
The 1958 model is young, streamlined, energetic, up to the minute and highly fashion conscious. She probably has several young children, does her own housework, cooking and chauffeuring and in addition interests herself in all kinds of community projects, such as schools, libraries and government.
In addition she sews her own wardrobe, and that of her children. Sometimes she even turns out a few items such as bathrobes and sports shirts for her husband. With the money thus saved she invests in smart new necessities, or splurges on a festive party.

This information comes, in part, from Mrs. Bradford Cushman, of Portland, Maine, chairman of the affairs division of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Right now she is involved in a national sewing contest sponsored by the 10,000 affiliated clubs in this country.
Clubs of 47 states already have signed up for the contest. The final awards will be made at the federation convention in Detroit next June.
"The response has been fantastic," says Mrs. Cushman. "We are offering a prize for the best and most suitable costume for a clubwoman, made at home."

Negro Woman Shot at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Police Chief Norman Young said that a Negro woman taxicab radio dispatcher was shot and killed while at work last night.
The body of Mrs. Clementine Scott, 36, was found in the office by Don Mitchell, 52, a taxicab driver.
Young said the woman was shot at the base of the neck.

Folsom Wants U. S. Aid in Education

By HERMAN R. ALLEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—An educator said today Secretary of Welfare Folsom is supporting a proposal that the federal government spend 287 million dollars a year on aid to education.

Heavy emphasis would be placed on science and mathematics in elementary and high schools. The plan would provide for some 27,000 scholarships a year, financed by the federal government but administered by the states.
G. Kerry Smith, executive secretary of the Assn. for Higher Education is one of several education leaders who have been meeting in secrecy with U.S. Office of Education officials to work out the plan, which would run four or five years.

The AHE is a department of the National Education Assn.
In an article for the Dec. 15 issue of AHE's columns and university bulletin, Smith wrote that the program, "designed to help meet the challenge of Soviet scientific advances, is being prepared by the U.S. Office of Education and supported by Secretary Folsom for inclusion in the President's budget message to Congress."

Indifferent on Question of Oppenheimer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Thomas L. Murray says he is neither for nor against any decision to give Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer renewed access to government secrets.

Murray said yesterday he wanted to clear up what he termed "some public misunderstanding" over a Nov. 21 comment that he "would not be at all displeased" if Oppenheimer were reinstated for work on satellite and missile programs.
Murray said in a statement that any decision in the case of the controversial atomic scientist would have to be made on its own merits in the light of new situations.
"For me," Murray continued, "the essential thing is that my name should not be alleged in advocacy of the decision, or in opposition to it."

Murray is now a consultant to the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

position to it."
Oppenheimer was wartime director of the Los Alamos, N. M., atom bomb project. He was denied further access to government secrets in 1954 after the AEC voted 4-1 that, although loyal, he had held himself as a bad risk.
Murray, although voting with the AEC majority, said that he could not agree that Oppenheimer was loyal. Fidelity to security regulations is a test of loyalty, Murray said, and Oppenheimer was not faithful to the regulations and in that sense was disloyal.
In his new statement, Murray said, "I have no doubt today that my verdict was justly rendered. I have no doubt that the reasons I advanced for it were valid."
"... Authorities who are competent to judge the exigencies of the new situation may feel it necessary or useful to recall Dr. Oppenheimer to government service. It would not be appropriate for me to express disapproval with this decision if I were to be made."

Never before so much spirit, space and splendor in station wagons

3 LOW-PRICED COMMUTERS—NEW MARAUDER ENGINES—Gone is that sluggish "truck" feeling often associated with station wagons. All 1958 Mercury wagons have entirely new Cool-Power Marauder V-8 engines. In this series your choice of 2- and 4-door, 6- and 9-passenger models.

2 VOYAGERS—GIANT 87.4 CU. FT. CAPACITY—Carry up to 1 1/2 tons of cargo. Big M wagons have the longest, widest cargo area of them all. 2- and 4-door, 6-passenger models and a 4-door, 9-passenger model.

THE COLONY PARK—THE ULTIMATE IN LUXURY—The most beautiful station wagon you can buy. Big, bold, handsome lines plus a luxurious limousine ride. Available in 4-door, 6-passenger and 9-passenger models.

So spacious you can almost hold a dance in this year's Big M wagons. Their smart hardtop styling gives you a wide-horizon view all around. What's more, with all their good looks, there has never been a more practical car. The back window slides down neatly into the tailgate for far easier loading. There's no clumsy liftgate to get in the way. The huge interiors carry more cargo more easily—more people more comfortably—than ever before. Come in and fall in love with a Mercury station wagon. Believe us, here is a wonderful romance that will last, and last!

Queen Mother Interested in Many Things

By JOHN GALE

LONDON, Dec. 14 (U)—In a large house down the road from Buckingham Palace, a courtly little woman with a weakness for Ossetian feather hats lives amid the loneliness of riches.

Once she was Queen of England, a symbolic leader at the very center of national acclaim. But on a February day in 1952, her husband King George VI died, and the spotlight switched to their young daughter, The Queen Mother. She gracefully and willingly stepped aside.

When the new Queen flew back from her African tour—interrupted by her father's death—reports said that Queen Mother Elizabeth welcomed her with a curtsy and the politely traditional greeting "How do you do, ma'am?"

Since then, the dowager Queen quietly has carried on a mission to relieve the heavy burdens of her monarchy.

She has twice flown to the central African Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, she made an official visit to the United States and Canada in 1954 and is sure to make a three-week tour of Australia next February.

At home, she has stumped around housing estates on her high heels, distributed nursing awards, opened factories and performed a thousand and one duties that might otherwise have fallen on the Queen.

In off-duty periods, she puts around her home at Clarence House which she shares with unmarried daughter, Princess Margaret, arranging her collection of china and occasionally playing the piano, which she does competently. Sometimes she entertains old friends to tea or goes shopping in the London stores.

At weekends she nearly always goes to Windsor. For longer breaks from home, she travels to one of her two estates in Scotland. Through the yuletide of activity, the Queen Mother has emerged as unruffled as ever.

To 30 million Britons, she is the living symbol of happy family life at the palace level — a devoted mother and a doting grandparent.

The Queen Mother also has a variety of other energetic and cultivated tastes.

She was more than 50 years of age before friends introduced her to salmon fishing. Now she rarely visits Scotland without setting out in waders, carrying a rod and line, for the rich salmon streams.

Her two Scottish homes are a house called Birkhall near Queen Elizabeth's Balmoral estate and the ancient castle of Mey to Caithness, which she bought after the King's death. At the reputedly haunted castle, she goes for long, lonely country walks.

In London, the Queen Mother is often seen at orchestral concerts which are thought to dominate her taste for classical music.

General Riot Continues on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (U)—Mobs of Turkish Cypriots charged into the Greek Cypriot sector of Nicosia today, stoning cars and smashing and looting shops.

The Turks were avenging the wounding of a Turkish Cypriot policeman during a violent Greek Cypriot demonstration against British rule earlier in the day.

The Turks swept in from the old city as British troops battled Greek Cypriot students near the island's largest school.

The striking students climbed to the roof of the school and other buildings and rained stones, bricks and bottles on soldiers and police.

Security forces broke up the demonstration with tear gas and clubs. Eight security men and 20 students were injured.

One British soldier drew his gun when he saw a gang of youths hitting a policeman who lay in a pool of mud with blood streaming down his face.

The students fled.

It was the fourth straight day of demonstrations and rioting key to the U.N. debate over this British-held Mediterranean island, out on a 24-hour strike yesterday.

Writers of Westerns Get Together

By HOWARD BENEDICT AP WRITER

NEW YORK, Dec. 14 (U)—At a bar and grill in Times Square the Westerners gathered monthly to exchange nostalgic memories about the wide open spaces half a country away.

Around the big table are writers, publishers, historians, artists, dealers in Western Americana and dilettante duodes.

Among them are names well known to readers of Western books: Homer Croy, Mari Sandoz, Harry Sinclair, Drago, Harold McCracken, R. A. Borkin, Holger Cahill, Noel M. Loomis and Frazier Hunt.

Some wear 10-gallon hats, bright shirts and whatever additional paraphernalia with a Western flavor can be rounded up in Fifth Avenue stores.

For the most part transplanted westerners who came East for business reasons, they're not reconciled to the change of scenery.

"We've had to substitute the Empire State Building for Pike's Peak," growls one. "And if any of the Redmen remain who sold Manhattan for $24 worth of trinkets, they're lost in the crowd at the subway station."

A loosely affiliated national and international organization, the Westerners have posess, as the chapters are called, in Los Angeles, Denver, Spokane, Chicago, Washington, Kansas City, London, Frankfurt, Germany.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch in New York, Peter Decker—as head of the group he wears a sheriff's badge—explained how the Westerners started. It was in 1951 at the home of Western writer James D. Horan, across the wide Hudson in Weehawken, N.J.

"There were 11 of us Western lovers there," says Decker. "Someone suggested starting a club to preserve the Western scene, and we each jokingly put a penny on Jim's bar as an initial treasury. Then, like Topsy, then 'just grewed.'"

Today there are 75 active members in the New York branch—the limit placed by the group—and 200 corresponding members who receive the quarterly magazine, "The Brand Book," containing articles on the cultural background and history of the West.

For most of the posessmen and women, appreciation for Estol's talk was largely vicarious. But

Insurance Trial Involves Arkansan

HOUSTON, Tex. (U)—A defense attorney yesterday charged "subterfuge" and "unfair play" on the part of government attorneys and postal inspectors in their investigation of Little Rock attorney Willis B. Lewis.

Lewis, former president of the Arkansas Fire and Marine Insurance Co., was one of seven men indicted last August on charges on mail fraud and violation of federal security laws. In a case involving the scandal-ridden U. S. Trust and Guaranty Co.

Attorney Pat Conn of Dallas made the charges during a hearing on 17 motions before U. S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham. Conn said that Lewis was not told personally that he was under investigation nor that he faced an indictment.

Lewis testified that he had been told by his attorney that if he appeared before the grand jury as a witness he could not be indicted unless he signed a legal waiver.

"My attorney gave me a copy of the waiver, which I had in my pocket when I appeared before the grand jury," Lewis said. "I was not asked to sign any such a waiver."

Postal inspection W. D. Main of Houston said he thought his report would show that postal inspectors planned to indict Lewis before the grand jury hearing.

could market only that portion of their production grown on acreage allotted for the crop ineligible for price support loans at a level somewhere between 75 per cent of parity.

The department hasn't yet announced the cotton support price for 1958. The 1957 cotton support price was 28.81 cents a pound for middling cotton, which figures out at 78 per cent of parity.

The 1958 support price for rice has been announced at $4.33 a 100 pounds, or 75 per cent of the parity price as of Nov. 1. This compares with $4.72 or 82 per cent of parity this year.

Two Jims Pledge to Make Good

NEWTON, Mass. (U)—A pledge made by four men 12 years ago on two Jims came true yesterday when a minister flew 3,000 miles to officiate at the wedding of his former Army lieutenant.

Robert C. Hagopian, Watertown town treasurer, was married to Miss Agnes Dadekian of Arlington by the Rev. James Forrester of the Sunnyside Baptist Church, in glewood, Calif.

Hagopian served as a legal officer and the minister as chaplain at the 20th Air Force combat staging center at Two Jims. The two were tent mates here for 21 months.

Two other former Army men who had promised to be ushers when Hagopian married were on hand for the ceremonies. They are Prof. Sidney Lees of Newton and Paul M. Henry of Natick.

Basilio Second to Win Award Twice

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Dempsey and Carmen Basilio, two bright and shiny names in boxing, will receive the sport's top awards for 1957.

Dempsey was voted the James J. Walker Memorial Award for "long and meritorious service" by the Boxing Writers Assn. yesterday. Basilio was named winner of the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as Fighter of the Year.
The two fighting men will accept the honors Jan. 14 at the association's annual dinner.

Owners of White Sox Go to Court

CHICAGO (AP)—Chuck Comiskey, vice president of the Chicago
White Sox, yesterday filed a petition asking Probate Court to order his sister Mrs. Dorothy Rigney to give him his inherited stock in the baseball club.

The move came exactly a year after the death of his mother Mrs.
Grace Comiskey, president of the club. Mrs. Comiskey willed 1,781 shares of stock to Chuck and 2,261 to her daughter.

Chuck called the court action a "technicality" and explained he had to have the shares or a proxy in order to vote at the annual board of directors meeting
Dec. 19.

If both the shares or a proxy are denied, Comiskey petitioned the court to restrain anybody from voting the 4,062 shares left by his mother.

Judge Robert Jerome Dunne of Probate Court set hearing of the petition Dec. 17.

Mrs. Rigney, wife of former White Sox pitcher John, who is also a vice president, is secretary-treasurer of the club and also the administrator of Mrs. Co-miskey's estate.

In reference to Mrs. Comiskey, no president was to be named for a year after her death.

If a question of the presidency should develop, Comiskey, Mrs.
Rigney and Roy Egan, White Sox attorney and a member of the board, would do the voting.

Before Mrs. Comiskey's death, Mrs. Rigney held 1,694 shares of stock against 1,129 1-3 owned by Chuck, who comes into another 564 2-3 shares from a trust when he becomes 35. Comiskey is 32.

When all the holdings are established, Mrs. Rigney will have 3,975 shares as to Chuck's 3,475.
The difference in 500 shares comes from Mrs. Comiskey's will.
The estimated worth of the estate is $255,000.
